Position Profile: President and CEO, Coalition for Integrity

The Organization

The Coalition for Integrity, a leading advocate against corruption and for integrity, is seeking a new leader. The Coalition is a 501(c)(3) organization whose President and CEO will work with top echelons of governments, multilateral organizations, civil society organizations, labor organizations and businesses. The Coalition's mission is to lead the effort at home and abroad to shine a light on corrupt practices and build coalitions to curb corruption and promote integrity in government and business.

Within the United States, the Coalition supports policies to foster the integrity of government, business and electoral institutions. Among other things, it has issued an Integrity Challenge to candidates for election, supported strong enforcement of laws and regulations against corruption and called for action to combat money laundering. The Coalition also actively supports initiatives to curb corruption in international trade and business transactions, including the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the OECD Anti-Bribery Convention and the U.N. Convention against Corruption. Each year the Coalition bestows an Integrity Award to an individual who has made exemplary contributions in the fight against corruption and a Business Leadership Award to a company that has demonstrated strong commitment to corporate responsibility, ethics and leadership in stemming corruption. The Coalition is non-partisan, headquartered in Washington D.C., and governed by a Board of Directors of about twenty persons residing across the country.

The Board is seeking to broaden the Coalition's geographic reach, increase its impact and expand its programs. It seeks to strengthen ties with other organizations, both inside the United States and internationally that share its goals of combatting corruption and strengthening the integrity of government and business institutions.
